

12 Nights of Kindness

12 Nights of Kindness is a fun family experience that teaches kids to be givers of kindness by pairing them with someone in the neighborhood who needs a little holiday cheer. Leaving a small gift every night for 12 nights on the porch of the newly bereaved offers a delightful lesson in compassion, and leaves both giver and receiver with memories they'll treasure for life.

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Select an individual or family in your neighborhood who is facing their first holiday season without their loved one.
- Print the shopping list of items needed on page 2. Most items can be purchased at your local dollar store.
- Print the poems for each day. Feel free to be creative by using festive paper and/or handwriting the poems.
- Assemble the gift bags according to each day's poem. Staple the poem to the outside of the gift bag or tuck inside. Decorative tins or small Christmas stockings can be used in place of the gift bag.
- Beginning on December 13, place your gift on the recipient's front porch or doorknob, ring the doorbell then run as fast as you can so they don't catch you. Ring the doorbell on the first night ONLY.
- At around the same time every night thereafter, leave your gift on the recipient's front doorknob or porch.
- On the afternoon of Christmas Eve, arrange a dozen homemade treats on a pretty plate. Gather your family and deliver the plate in person. Ring the doorbell and when the door opens, sing "We Wish You A Merry Christmas." Finish with a generous round of hugs, and leave the recipient with the plate of treats and the priceless good cheer they'll hold dear all year!

*Lift a sorrowful heart this holiday season
by leaving a surprise on a doorstep each evening.*

*Pick a person who could use a wee lift
and each evening leave them a small gift.*

*It's fun, it's fast, and won't break the bank
and the cheer you bring is the best kind of prank.*

12 Nights of Kindness

Helping kids learn to be givers of kindness

SHOPPING LIST:

Print this page and take it with you to the store.

- 11 small gift bags
- Decorative filling (optional)
- White or decorative paper for printing poems
- 1 small bird ornament
- 2 chocolate Dove candies or 2 dove ornaments
- 3 candy canes
- 4 chocolate coins
- 5 packs of Lifesavers, butterscotch flavor
- 6 chocolate eggs or peppermint peeps
- 7 Packs of sugarless gum
- 1 single-serving jug of strawberry milk
- 8 straws
- 9 chocolate kisses
- 10 tiny jingle bells
- 11 small chocolate santas
- 12 homemade treats arranged on a decorative plate

TIP:

Many items can be purchased at your local dollar store.

Benefits:

- It spreads joy to those in need.
- It helps children learn compassion and kindness.
- It promotes gift giving at a time when children are focused on receiving
- It's a fun and festive way to help someone in their time of need
- Shopping and assembling the gifts is a wonderful family activity
- It plants the seed that gifts need not be expensive to be cherished

Night #1 December 13

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #1

T'was the first night of Christmas and all through your house not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse.

Except suddenly one little soul did appear
It's a little elf, and he brings holiday cheer!

Tonight it's a partridge for your pear tree and tomorrow, who knows, you must wait and see.

So turn on your porch light each evening with care and know that your gift soon will be there,

but don't try to catch him or he'll disappear!

Night #2 December 14

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #2

On the second day of Christmas

our task was truly clear.
We have two turtle doves for you,
'cuz your little elf was here.

Night #3 December 15

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #3

Three French Hens, by golly, are difficult to find.

But candy canes are jolly,
we hope you don't mind!

Night #4 December 16

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #4

Four calling birds,

we couldn't pay the fare.

Only thing we had
was a pocket awfully bare.

But this merry time
shouldn't be appalling,
So use these four coins
for your Christmas calling!

Night #5 December 17

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #5

Five golden rings

are just way too costly.

This gold you can eat and they're much less salty.

Night #6 December 18

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #6

Six geese a laying,
makes many people fret.
Too noisy, messy, and smelly.
Instead, we got you the starter set!

Night #7 December 19

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #7

Seven swans a swimming really make quite a splash.

Instead we bring hot cocoa
you can enjoy in a flash.

Night #8 December 20

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #8

Eight maids a milking

were kind of hard to do.
And with our budget this bare,
one milk and eight straws for you.

Night #9 December 21

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Nine ladies came dancing by but really couldn't stay.

So candy kisses they left for you as they went their merry way.

Night #9

Night #10 December 22

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #10

Ten lords a leaping

and their dancing rang with joy.
So for your Christmas keeping,
use these jingle bells to trim a toy.

Night #11 December 23

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #11

Eleven pipers piping,

it seemed so very easy.
But the pipers we found
all seemed much too dreamy.
So here's eleven Santas
all shiny, new and bright.
We hope you enjoy them
on this cold December night!

Night #12 December 24

12 Nights of Kindness

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Print and cut out poem below.
- Use decorative scissors if desired.
- Assemble gift bag:
 - Decorative filling (if desired)
 - Bird ornament
 - Small handful of holiday candy
- Staple poem to outside of gift bag, or tuck inside
- Sneakily deliver gift to recipient's front door, ring doorbell, and run!

PRINT AND CUT

Night #12

Twelve drummers drumming,

they play such noisy beats.
Instead we'll fill your tummy with a tray of Christmas treats!

We enjoyed leaving a small gift on your doorstep for no reason.
We hope our kindness brought you a little cheer this holiday season.

The Backstory

BY LYNDA CHELDELIN FELL

Have you heard of the 12 Nights of Christmas?

Also known as Secret Santa, I came across this concept years ago while reading In Search of the Real Spirit of Christmas, by Dan Schaeffer. In the back was a chapter describing his family tradition modeled after the twelve days of Christmas. Beginning on December 13 and ending on Christmas Eve, every evening the family left a poem and a treat on a neighbor's porch. The whole idea was to teach kids that giving was just as fun as receiving.

Twelve nights sneaking around the neighborhood pretending to be Santa? How fun! I especially loved the idea of helping my kids learn the joys of giving at their young ages.

And so, that December gave birth to a new family tradition.

Our oldest daughter was at college and our teenage son was busy with high school activities, so that left our two youngest kids. As I explained what we were embarking on and why, they were thrilled with the idea of playing a secret Santa.

Our 10-year-old daughter much preferred to be an elf, given that she was female and Santa was, well, male. But, if her 8-year-old brother was Santa—an elf's superior—well, that wouldn't do either. To keep the village peace, they both became elves instead of Santas.

As a family of six with one in college, we were on a budget. Armed with a shopping list, my first stop was our local dollar store. Thankfully, this turned out to be our only stop—everything we needed was there. Taking home supplies, we got to work printing the poems and preparing the bags while the kids giggled at the notion of sneaking through the neighborhood in the dark.

It was already December, and the first night was fast approaching. Fairly new to the neighborhood, we discussed who should be the first recipient of our newfound tradition. I'd recently heard that a neighbor a few blocks over was a new widower. His name was Tom, and he had lost his wife to cancer that summer. I couldn't imagine what the holidays must feel like for him and their two kids. It was clear that their home could use small doses of nightly cheer, and the matter was settled.

On the evening of December 13, my two elves giggled nervously as we bundled up and headed out that first night. New snowfall had recently blanketed the region, turning our nightly treks through the quiet streets into an enchanting winter wonderland. I treasured memories in the making.

Upon returning home each evening, we warmed our chilled hands around mugs of hot cocoa and giggled over who was clumsier in the dark. We also shared hope how our nightly surprises might bring cheer to Tom and his kids.

The next eleven nights flew by and soon it was Christmas Eve—the day when we had to reveal our identity.

I woke up that morning feeling nervous. I had never met Tom nor had I ever experienced a significant loss, so I knew nothing about grief. I was worried that perhaps our nightly gifts had been a bit too much for the family's fragile emotions. But there was no backing down now—we had to finish.

That afternoon we arranged a dozen homemade treats on a festive paper plate, covered it with red cellophane, taped the final poem to the top, and off to Tom's we went, this time in broad daylight. Was Tom and his kids even home? We didn't know but would soon find out.

My worry grew as we rounded the corner of Tom's street. With my two elves in tow, we nervously made our way up his short driveway.

With treats in hand, we gathered on Tom's front porch, and I rang the doorbell.

When Tom opened the door, I immediately belted out:

*We wish you a merry Christmas
We wish you a merry Christmas
We wish you a merry Christmas,
and a happy new year!*

Rather embarrassingly, I realized I was singing alone, for my two elves stood glued to the porch with mouths frozen shut. Because my children insist I'm tone deaf, I made the swift decision that one verse was more than enough for this poor grieving family.

As soon as I stopped singing, I further realized that Tom and his two kids had tears in their eyes.

Oh, dear. Was my voice that bad? Or, was our entire mission just a big flop?

In that awkward moment, I felt it best to explain who we were, offer our apology, and then leave the poor family alone. After all, it was Christmas Eve, and we were nothing more than strangers intruding on their fragile emotions.

But, I soon discovered I had nothing to fear at all—Tom and his children were crying because of how much they loved the gifts, and now it was coming to an end!

It turned out that Tom and his children not only enjoyed the element of surprise, but the nightly anticipation was a wonderful respite from the constant sadness. Mission accomplished!

That first year proved a wonderful experience and we continued the tradition, choosing a new family each year.

Until our own tragedy struck.

In late summer of 2009, the unthinkable happened when our youngest daughter Aly, now 15, died instantly in a car accident while returning home from a swim meet. Caught in my own fog of grief, I had no joy to share and no energy to carry on the family fun with our youngest son Shaun, who was now 13.

With broken hearts, our beloved tradition came to an unexpected end. Or, so I thought.

In the years since losing Aly, in fits and starts our family learned to laugh and feel joy again but I've never forgotten how bleak those first holidays felt. I've also learned that helping others helped my own heart to heal.

When our only grandson turned 9—the perfect age to become an elf—I reinstated the old family tradition. Just as it had in years past, it offered us both a nightly dose of good cheer, and once again enriched our holiday in magical ways.

In 2017, with our grandson now living in Lake Tahoe and no new grandchildren to take his place, it was time to select one last family before retiring the beloved family tradition. It wasn't hard to choose, for a neighbor who was raising her teenage grandson just a few doors down had terminal cancer. She unabashedly loved the holidays, and had decked their home mighty merrily each year. Except this year, for she was now bedridden.

So, for 12 nights beginning December 13, we brought Christmas to her.

On December 24 of that year, as we sang We Wish You a Merry Christmas, there wasn't a dry eye in the house. She died just a few weeks later.

Having experienced our daughter's death years before, I understand how the holidays can feel bleak, and how a little kindness can go a long way.

The memories we made over the years proved more than just a little fun. Being agents of kindness taught two generations of elves that giving is also good for the giver, and that nobody needs cheer more than someone with a heavy heart. Further, the nightly gifts of compassion gave us the best gift of all—memories we'll treasure for life.

Lift a sorrowful heart this holiday season
by leaving a surprise on a doorstep each evening.

Pick a person who could use a wee lift
and each evening leave them a small gift.

It's fun, it's fast, and won't break the bank
and the cheer you bring is the best kind of prank.

Happy holidays!

Lynda Cheldelin Fell

Founder, International Grief Institute
www.InternationalGriefInstitute.com
lynda@internationalgriefinstitute.com

